Being a supervillain is never easy. But for Gru, it's doubly tough when you aspire to become the greatest one ever. Steve Carell provides the voice for this arch-criminal who concocts a plot to steal the moon (using his new Shrink Ray) as part of his plan to upstage his wiseguy rival Vector (voice of Jason Segel). Using three adorable girls from a nearby orphanage, Gru sets his plan in motion only to run into one immovable roadblock: his heart. Russell Brand, Kristen Wiig, Miranda Cosgrove, Will Arnett, Danny McBride, Jack McBrayer and Julie Andrews round out the supporting voice cast in this blockbuster animated hit. (AC,MV) PG-1:35. Greed is back...or is it? Michael Douglas reprises his Oscar®-winning role as unscrupulous Wall Street moneyman Gordon Gekko in this stellar sequel that finds him broke after an eight-year prison stint for corporate fraud. Shia LaBeouf co-stars as a financial star on the rise who sees Gekko as the ticket to his long-term goals—both on the Street and with Gekko's estranged daughter. Co-starring Josh Brolin, Carey Mulligan, Eli Wallach, with Susan Sarandon and Frank Langella. Directed by Oliver Stone; written by Allan Loeb and Stephen Schiff, based on characters created by Stanley Weiser and Oliver Stone. (AL) PG13-2:13. HBO July 9,10,12,17,20,23,25,30

Nominated for four Oscars®, including Best Picture, this comedy is a funny, pointed depiction of a modern American family. Nic (Annette Bening) and Jules (Julianne Moore) lead a comfortable existence with their two children, Joni and Laser. But when the teens bring their sperm-donor father Paul (Mark Ruffalo) into the picture, life takes a sudden and unexpected turn. (AC, GL, MV, N) R-1:46. HBO July 16, 19, 24, 27

Dinner for Schmucks

The set-up is simple: executives invite misfit guests to a dinner party, and whoever brings the biggest loser is the winner. For Tim Conrad, this cruel event may be his ticket to the executive fast track...especially when he meets Barry Speck. Steve Carell and Paul Rudd star in this outrageous comedy that follows Tim as he ponders bringing Barry—a hopelessly hapless schlub who makes art using dead mice—to the feast for fools. (AC, AL, BN, MV) PG13-1:54. HBO July 23, 24, 26, 29, 31

THE TOWN

Ben Affleck stars in this acclaimed thriller as a Boston bank robber who finds himself trying to get out of the game. Doug MacRay (Affleck) comes from a long line of crooks, but his heart just isn't in it anymore—it's with a young woman that his best friend and loose-cannon partner James took as a hostage after a heist. But in a town that will never let him go willingly, Doug must navigate a dangerous series of complications in order to survive. (AC, V) R-2:05. HBO July 30

As if vampires, werewolves, werepanthers and shapeshifters weren't enough, Sookie Stackhouse and her allies in Bon Temps are about to face another round of otherworldly threats. It's time to bare your fangs for more new episodes of this acclaimed HBO drama series as it continues the story of this human/faerie waitress with telepathic gifts and an irresistible attraction to a vampire named Bill Compton. Though the bloody threat of

Russell Edgington may have passed (for now), fresh trouble is brewing in Bon Temps and many questions remain unanswered. Meanwhile, Sookie seeks answers as to her surprising place in the faerie world. Anna Paquin, Stephen Moyer, Ryan Kwanten, Sam Trammell, Rutina Wesley, Nelsan Ellis, Chris Bauer, Alexander Skarsgard and Deborah Ann Woll head up the starring cast. (AC,AL,N,V) TVMA/V,S,L-:57. From coast to coast, nobody compares to Larry David when it comes to speaking one's mind, no matter the cost. Get ready for Season Eight of this Emmy®- and Golden Globe®-winning comedy series starring Larry David as...himself! Each episode follows Larry as he lands in an insane variety of predicaments with both fictional and real-life personalities. This year, as "Single Larry" continues to navigate the L.A. dating scene, a faulty alibi lands him back in his hometown of New York City for an extended stay—where he proves that faux-pas and character assassinations can occur just as easily in the Big Apple as in Hollywood. TREME

More than a year has passed since Hurricane Katrina devastated New Orleans, but residents are finding it harder than ever to rebuild. So why stay? Because it's New Orleans. HBO presents the Season Two finale of this series that focuses on a diverse group of residents as they try to rebuild their lives. As Season Two concludes, life has become even tougher for the musicians, restaurateurs, radio deejays and community leaders who were introduced in the first season. Some have left, others have to sell their homes, and crime, corruption and graft are threatening the city's recovery. But those who remain continue to show the spirit that defines the city. CITIZEN U.S.A.

A 50 STATE ROAD TRIP

In search of the American Dream.

Each year, nearly one million people from all over the world become American citizens. Who are these new Americans, and why do they want to live here? Award-winning filmmaker Alexandra Pelosi takes a journey to find out the answers in this uplifting and illuminating look at the naturalization process in America. Beginning with the swearing-in ceremony of her own Dutch-born husband, Pelosi criss-crosses the U.S. to meet new citizens and speak with some notable first-generation Americans, including Madeleine Albright, Arianna Huffington, Henry Kissinger and Gene Simmons. BEHIND THE WALLS OF
BADAM BAGH WOMEN'S PRISON

LOVE CRIMES OF KABUL

Of the 125 prisoners at Badam Bagh Women's Prison in Kabul, Afghanistan, about half are there for crimes like drug smuggling, murder and worse. The rest are imprisoned for "moral crimes" that include running away from home, adultery and premarital sex. Nine years after the fall of the Taliban, in a society where the seeds of change are sprouting, but strict moral and legal codes of Sharia Family Law still apply, filmmaker Tanaz Eshaghian goes behind the walls of Badam Bagh to give voice to three of these women while shining a light on the pressures Afghan females face today—and the dangerous consequences when they refuse to fit in. After years of toxic dumping, one small community is fighting for its life.

Thirty years after Ford Motor Company began dumping toxic waste in their backyard—and after one too many premature deaths—the Ramapough Mountain Indian Tribe filed a major class-action lawsuit: Mann v. Ford. This compelling documentary reveals the story of how this community and their team of passionate lawyers took on Ford and the Environmental Protection Agency after years of suffering a wide range of ailments, from skin rashes to increased rates of cancer and miscarriages—a result they allege of Ford dumping paint waste, PCBs and other volatile chemicals in the Ramapough forest. There's something wrong with Aunt Diane Could anyone see it coming?

The accident made national headlines: a suburban mother drove the wrong way on the Taconic Parkway in upstate New York and crashed head-on into an SUV, killing herself and seven others. In the aftermath, Diane Schuler was portrayed as a reckless drunk and a mother who cracked. But was she what the public made her out to be...or the perfect wife and mother that many say she was? Investigating the case one year after the accident, this documentary pieces together that fateful day through interviews and exclusive testimony in an effort to get some answers to this mysterious and devastating tragedy. In the history of American sports, there are a handful of athletes—Jesse Owens, Jackie Robinson, Muhammad Ali, among them—whose impact resonated beyond the game. Curt Flood belongs on this list. A star player for the Cardinals in the 1960s, Flood is best remembered for risking his career to take on Major League Baseball in court over its so-called “Reserve Clause,” which bound players to their respective teams in perpetuity. This film explores the life of this highly articulate man whose decision to fight baseball destroyed his career and made him a pariah to the sport he loved. (AC,AL)
